Contents

3  Signing In
4  LexisPSL Practice Areas
5  Setting a Practice Area Homepage
7  Navigating the Homepage
9  Browsing LexisPSL
10  Viewing the collection of documents within a topic
11  Navigating LexisPSL Documents
11  Hyperlinks within your Document
12  Table of Contents
12  Downloading, printing and emailing selected documents
13  News and Alerts
14  Key Resources
14  LexisAsk
Signing In

To login to LexisPSL follow this link: www.lexisnexis.com/uk/lexispsl

Enter your username ID and Password

The Sign in button will take you to the homepage

Tick the Remember me box. This will log you in automatically when you next open LexisPSL.
LexisPSL Practice Areas

You can navigate through the different practice areas on LexisPSL to access specific material to your specialism.

Click the LexisPSL logo to return to the homepage at any point.

Select the dropdown arrow to change to another practice area.

The practice area menu will appear in a pop up window.

This icon will allow you to manage your settings, contact our experts, access our help sites or sign out.
Setting a Practice Area Homepage

You can select your preferred practice area to be your default homepage.

Navigate to the settings menu by selecting the My Settings option under the top right icon.

Select the Change your default homepage option under Viewing options.
Setting a Practice Area Homepage (cont’d)

Select the practice area you would like to be your default homepage from the drop-down list. Select Save to apply the selection.

Clicking on the LexisPSL icon at the top-left will now redirect to the selected practice area.
Navigating the Homepage

The LexisPSL logo will take you to your practice area homepage.

Use the Topics tab or the Topics drop-down menu to browse practice area content.

Select the arrow next to the LexisPSL logo to navigate to other LexisNexis platforms.

Click on the current practice area title to open the practice area menu and navigate to another practice area.

Type keywords and/or phrases in the search box to search across all subscribed LexisPSL content. You can use the Filters option on the left to narrow your search to specific practice areas.
Navigating the Homepage (cont’d)

Discover who our experts and practice area partners are by selecting the experts link.

The Multimedia section provides access to webinars and other useful multimedia content.

Find additional information through useful external sites under Web links.
Browsing LexisPSL

LexisPSL is designed to take effort out of finding research and drafting materials by grouping them together by topic. You can access the topic you need on the practice area homepage or from the Topics drop-down menu, which can be accessed from any page.

- Clicking on the topic headings will expand the subtopics underneath.
- Selecting the Expand all topics will reveal all subtopics. You can undo this option by selecting Collapse all topics.
- Selecting one of the blue subtopics will take you to that subtopics landing page where you will find related material such as practice notes, precedents and more.

The Topics tab displays all the high-level topics for the current practice area.
Viewing the collection of documents within a topic

The documents available for your topic are categorised in tabs according to the document type, e.g. Practice Notes, Precedents, Forms, Checklists, Legislation, Cases and News.

A document will be flagged as Maintained, New, Updated or Under Review to indicate the status of the information contained within or to alert you to a new document.

Depending on your subscription, you may have access to some Forms and Precedents in a LexisSmart format. LexisSmart Forms are pdf documents that can be completed, saved and edited to your own computer. SmartPrecedents (Indicated by 'LS') save time by generating a tailored document following the completion of a questionnaire. To access the LexisSmart version of a document, click on the LexisSmart button.
Navigating LexisPSL Documents

Once you have clicked through to your selected Practice Note, Precedent, Checklist or other document within LexisPSL, there are several additional features available to help you save time. These are:

- Hyperlinks within the document linking to further reading on similar topics or linking through to relevant authorities
- Orange quotation marks on the right-hand side of the document indicating and linking to relevant authorities
- When looking at a precedent, clicking a speech bubble and pencil icon on the right-hand side of the document will reveal drafting notes for extra guidance
- A Table of Contents to navigate swiftly through to specific paragraphs within a document
- Document Delivery buttons to let you download, print or email the document

Hyperlinks within your Document

LexisPSL has been designed to link you seamlessly through to further reading or relevant authorities. These are indicated by blue hyperlinks within the document, or to the right of the document within behind orange quotation marks. Selecting on the hyperlinks will link directly to the authority or document being cited so you do not have to run separate searches.

Links to further reading on LexisLibrary may be listed on the right of the screen under the Related Documents box. Depending on your subscription, these links will take you directly to relevant commentary within the LexisLibrary service such as Halsbury’s Law of England or other key texts.
Table of Contents

Once you have opened a document, you can navigate quickly to a specific paragraph, section or heading using the Table of Contents tab. This appears on the left-hand side of the document.

Select a heading to navigate to that particular section or clause of the document.

Click on the Table of Contents tab to view the table of contents.

Downloading, printing and emailing selected documents

You can select these buttons at the top of the document page to print, download or email the document. For search results, you can select the check boxes next to each result to print, download or email multiple documents.

To print the document, select the Print Delivery icon. A pop-up window will appear. Complete the fields as necessary and select print.

To download and save the document to your computer, click the Download Delivery icon.

To email the document to yourself or someone else, select the Email Delivery icon.
News and Alerts

Next to the topics tab on the homepage is the news tab where you can view the latest articles and cases relating to a specific practice area.

You can set up email alerts or subscribe to our RSS feeds using the hyperlinks in the blue toolbar.

Access the news archive or the latest monthly highlights.

The News tab shows the six most recent items. Selecting read more will redirect you to the full article.

Selecting the Email option from within the blue toolbar will redirect you to your settings page where you can subscribe to regular email updates.

Enter your email address into the Email to box.

You can choose to receive weekly or monthly highlights and you can choose Legal Insights to specify the topics you would like to be updated on.

Select Save once you have chosen your settings receive the email updates.
Key Resources

The Key Resources tab contains quick access to the key documents, topics, tools and calculators for each practice area.

LexisAsk

The LexisPSL team of lawyers are happy to receive your queries or comments on a particular document or aspect of the service. You can use the LexisAsk feature at the bottom-left of any document page in LexisPSL.

Click on the Lexis Ask icon to open the question portal which is located at the bottom of each document.

Enter your question here and select Send to send a message to our LexisPSL team. Each question has a 250 word limit.